Tristany submitted copies of the ordinance and the application to the members. He explained that in Section 208 of the Business Incentives for retail; the allowable businesses was very broad based; and that an applicant must be a private for profit business entitled to operate in Connecticut; that the applicant not be in violation of any law or agreement with the town, state, or federal government; the applicant must not owe any previously levied taxes to the town of Griswold and must remain current with taxes during the each year of the agreement or the agreement becomes null and void.

He stated that they fall within the $500,000 to $2,999,000 two year abatement program: with year 1 is 60 percent; and year 2 is 40 percent. He stated that the additional qualifications: business is a permitted use in the Griswold Zoning Regulations; must be in environmental compliance with the CT DEEP; not be delinquent in any fees or taxes owed to the town of Griswold; completed application to be submitted. M. Tristany stated that he has a copy of the building permit and the total fee paid was just under $9,500. He read for the record a letter from Leona Sharkey, Tax Collector, dated March 15, 2017 that the applicant's taxes have been paid to date for real or personal property. He submitted copies of the building permit and tax letter to members.

T. Giard stated that the tax abatement ordinance that was established in 2012 is based on Connecticut General Statutes so everything here is based on the State's existing General Statutes. He stated that the applicants' edibility issue is the business that the applicant is in. He stated that the building at this time is a new building and the abatement talks to the new building. He stated that they are requesting the two tax abatement: year 1 is 60 percent and year 2 is 40 percent; when the business is up and running, this tax abatement kick in.

T. Giard stated that on page six of the ordinance, applications are submitted to the town planner and reviewed by the EDC who will make a recommendation to the BOS within 60 days to approve or deny the application. He explained that the EDC has no legislative authority but can make recommendations. T. Giard stated that in his opinion, this project fits the application. He asked for discussion and for a positive recommendation to forward this to the BOS.

M. Tristany stated for the record that the submitted application; the real estate property value is $99,470; estimated new construction value is $1,100,000; and the estimated new personal property value is $100,000 to build out the interior. He stated that the assessor will confirm the tax value of the actual building and new personal property. T. Giard stated that if the figures surpass the two year requirement, it will fall into the next category.

J. Barnie stated that he has studied this particular tax abatement and, in his opinion, they meet all the requirements and necessities of the Section 208 of the ordinance. MOTION: J. Barnie moved to forward to the Board of Selectmen our recommendation that the Board of Selectmen move forward with this application. P. Lach seconded the motion.

P. Lach stated that he looks at this with blinders on and they meet the criteria; and we look at to insure the applicant follows this ordinance to the letter. He stated that as far as the budget of the town goes, it is out of our control; there is nothing in the ordinance that states if there is a budget issue in the town, this type of application cannot be submitted. P. Lach stated that the decision to move forward with this is up the Board of Selectmen; and they are the ones who say yea or nay. K. Bousquet asked if the 60 percent the first year and, the second year is the 40 percent based on the first number. T. Giard stated yes.
